THE OLD, OLD HOME.

When I long for saluted memorles, Like angel troops they come,

If I fold my arms to ponder On the old, old home, The heart has many passages

Through which pure feelings roun, But its middle aisle is secred, To thoughts of old, old home

Where infancy was sheltered, Like rose-bads from the blast, Where boyhood's brief ely-rum In joyousness was past; To that sweet spot forever, As to some ballowed dome.

Life's polyrim benda his vision;

'Tis his old, old home. A Father sat, how proudly, By that dear hearth-stone's rasa And told his children stories Of his early manhood's days; And one soft eye was beaming, From child to child 'twould roam; Thus a Mother counts her treasures

The birth-day gifts and festivals, The blemled vester hymn. (Some dear one who were swelling it. Are with the Scraphim,) The fond "good-nights" at bed-time, How quiet sleep would come, And hold us altogether.

In the old, old home. Like a wrenth of scented flowrets Closs interwined each heart. But time and change in concert Have blown the wreath apart; But sunted, eninted memories, Like angels ever come, If I fold my arms and ponder On the old, old home.

HEBREW REQUIEM

"Go thou in peace," we would not have thee huger In the low mazes of this tainted earth, Where every joy is touched with sorrow's inger, And tears succeed the brightest hours of truth Thine upward gaze is fixed upon the dwelling Where sin and sorrow never more are known. And scraph lips the loud Hosanna swelling, Have caught the music of celestial tone.

"Go thou in peace," thy home on earth now leaving, In the lone chambers of the dead to dwell; Thou hast no portion in the sorrow heaving The heart whose anguish nears too feebly tell; A path of light and gladness is before they The boye of Israel in fruition thine, And thou hast gazed upon the beams of glory Around the throne of Israel's God that shine.

"Go thou in peace!" temperation cannot sever The tie that now unites thee to thy Gol; The voice of sin, of untellef, can never Enter the mares of thy low abode. We leave thee here, in mingled joy and satness Our hearts are weak, our hope are funt and dim But to the lard we turn with chastened gledness, And yield our friend, our brother, up to Him.

Gems of Thought.

There is nothing on earth so beautiful as the household on which Christian love forever smiles, and where religion walks, a counsellor and a friend. No cloud can darken it, for its twin stars are centered in the soul. No storms can make it tremble, for it has a beavenly support and a heavenly anchor. The home circle surrounded by such influences, has an ante-past of the joys of a beavenly home.

He is but half prepared for the journey of life who takes not with him that friend who will forsake him in no emergency, who will divide his sorrows, increase his joys, lift the veil from his heart, and throw sunshine around the darkest scenes.

If you love others, they will love you .-If you speak kindly to them, they will speak kindly Love is repaid with love, and hatred with hatred. Would you hear a swext and pleasant echo, speak sweetly and pleasantly yourself.

Indifference.

We prefer an out and out enemy to a milk and water indifferent friend. Indifference is perfectly detestable. If a man spits in your face, or knocks you down, you can wipe off the one, and if the blow is not too hard, get up when the effect of the other has subsided; but when a man looks at you, and does not speak to you at the same time-when he speaks as though he supposed you were dreaming, and was afraid of awaking you-when he shakes hands as though he thought you had the plague, and was afraid of catching it, we say, from such men, and from such women. Ladies' Bonnets.

GETTYSBURG, PA., MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1855.

We recently heard of an instance, says the St. Louis Republican, which foreibly illustrates the ridiculous fashion of ladies now a days wearing their bonnets upon the back of their heads. A ludy came down street upon business, and returning home, the strings which held her bonnet upon the back of her bead, came loose, and the bonnet dropped off on the sidewalk. The lady pursued her way, not even missing the head ried! Well, the pudding moment arrived, after putting on another bead-dress, with a and a huge slice almost obscured from sight determination to secure her lost treasure, for it was a pet bonnet, and after travelling several squares, and making several inquiries, she at length found it, a gentleman

"I'll Call Around and Pay." What a world of woe is contained in these few words to the poor artisan and mechanic! "I'll call around and pay," says the rich man, to avoid the trouble of going to his dosk to get the necessary funds, and the poor mechanic is obliged to go home, to disappoint his workmen and all who depend on him for their due. It is an easy matter to work-the only real glory in this line is an independent idea of being able to sustain yourself by the labor of your own hands, and it may be easily imagined what crushing force there is in "I'll call around and pay" to the laboring man who depends ding, sir,' and my pretty wife's brow flashed make five year. A Witness Rejected.

> Laborers in England and Ireland. The scarcity of labor afflicts not only Ireand but England. Most persons will be surprised at this, as there is supposed to be a large surplus population in that country. The London Times, however, in its issue of the 5th inst., says:

> "From all parts of the country there is a complaint of the want of labor to get in the harvest. The great Irish supply is not so copious as it was, and our own population is said to be running short. In some counties, the militia has been allowed a fortnight to help in the field. The difficulty, indeed, is only a matter of degree, and has been one of frequent, if not annual occurrence, in this country; but just now, while there are so many drains on the population, the difficulty assumes a political color, and a sort of panic bas ariseu."

refers is the great demand for men for the jug of his church. He has four sons and armies engaged in the Eastern war. Britin, with twenty-eight millions of people, has no more soldiers at Sebastopol than Sardinia. It was supposed that this might be attributed to defects in the machinery of enlistment, but the complaints of scarcity of laborers show that there are no men to spare in either England or Ireland.

Valuable Medical Discovery.

A few days since, says the Transcript, an lrishman upon one of our wharves was obliged to suspend work in consequence of being afflicted with an ulcerated sore throat. His employers, pitying his suffering, sent him a jar of nice currant jelly, and to their great surprise, he resumed his labors on the following morning, with his head and threat completely enveloped with bandages highly discolored. Upon being questioned as to his health and peculiar appearance, Pat replied:

"That was a bewtiful medicine ye gave me, and did me a power of good. Remarkable Man.

A correspondent of the Kentucky Statesman gives a sketch of an old citizen living in Pulaski county, named Elijah Denney, who is perhaps the oldest man in Kentucky. He will be one hundred and eighteen years of age on the 10th of September next, and is as active as many men at forty. He works daily upon a farm, and throughout the whole of his life has been an early riser. He informed the writer that he had never drank but one cup of coffee, and that was in the year 1848. He served seven years in the war of the Revolution, and was wounded at the siege of Charleston; was also at the siege of Savannah and in the battle of Eutaw Spring. He was also present at the battles of Camden, King's Mountain, and Monk's Corner. He served under Cols. Horry and Marion, and was an eye-witness of the sufferings and death of Col. Isaac Hayne, of South Carolina, an early victim of the Revolution. He is sprightly and active, and would be taken at any time to be a man of middle age. He is a strict member of the Baptist Church, The "political color" to which the times and rides six miles to every regular meetfive daughters, all living ; the eldest is now year and the youngest son is 51. Such is a brief sketch of this aged soldier and republican, who is perhaps the only surviving soldier of Francis Marion, Sumter, and Horry.

> An Old Man Charmed out of Twelce Hundred Dollars.—The gipsics bave stolen $1,200 from an old man named Pearse, of Limerick. Maine. Tucy made him believe that $4,000 was buried in a pot on his farm, and persuaded him to get the $1,200 together, and deposit it in a small trunk, to remain in his possession six days, while they were working the charm to find out the spot where the $4,000 was hidden. Soon afterwards, the gipsy women returned, and accused the elderly greenhorn of opening the trunk, thereby defeating "the charm." He confessed be had done so, and that the gipsy women counted the money again, and took the key, leaving the trunk and money, as he thought, with Mr. Pearse; but at the expiration of the six days he

Death of a Miser.—The Chicago Press mentions that a few days ago a miser, named Andrew Grunderson, died in that city from the effects of the miserable food his avarice compelled him to eat, and because he cian, lest be should be called upon to pay the expence. Since his death it has been ascertained that he had $4.000 deposited in a bank, and owned a block in the western division of the city. He left no will, and lieved his sufferings all they could.

And, inasmuch as Christianity, by the Condecisions of the most eminent judicial authorines; and by the consent of the people of America, is considered an element of our political system; and, as the Holy Bible is at once the source of Christianny, and the depository and fountain of all civil and religious freedom, we oppose every attempt to exclude it from the senuols thus established in the U.

In thus avowing our principles we wage no war against any man because of his political yow such opinious as to him may seem right. - ke,, assigned, ke, We propose no enactments to deprace any cit-izen of the right to rate or hold office. With heirs and legal representatives of JAMES laws and billour offices, and voting only for sonally on heirs resident within the County does and must endorse, when selecting as candidates for other those who sympathize with it in views of governmental policy.

There is still one other principle which the American Party of Pennsylvania has avowed, and upon which they ask a verdict of the people of the State. The repeal of the time-houored Missouri Compromise and the threatened extension of Human Slavery into the Territories solemply consecrated to Freedom, meets our entire, emphatic condemnation. We demand a repeal of the Kansas-Nebraska nerthe restoration of the Missouri Compromiseand a resistance to the further extension of Human Slavery in this Republic.

Such are the principles avowed by the American party, and for which they ask your approval. It has its origin to a sincere, earnest desire to see these principles adopted as the policy of the country, and to this end they invite the honest votes of all parties to unite with them. We wilcome all—recognize no past political distinction-and scand ready to work heartily, honestly, earnestly, on common ground, with all who may be willing to go with us. The enemies of Americanism-banded together by common interests-and controlled by corrupt partizan demagagnes, are smaining every nerve to crush it by means of reckless denunciation, misrepresentation, and falsehood, It is for you, equally interested with us in the determination of these great issues, to say whether they shall succeed. With you we leave the matter, confident in the assurance that on the second Tuesday of October next, you will record your verdict on the side of Right and Truth and Justice. THE ADAMS SENTINEL AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.

The Liguer Traffic. It is generally known that the restrictive Signor law which goes into operation to-day, coupled with two concerned's on the same subject which went into force within the lasyear, will make a radical change in our systom of licensing the sale of inquers. For the purpose of giving our readers a proper understanding of the changes thus made we publish an abstract of the three fews which now combine to form our liquor-lie use sys-

The first is Buckelew's law, or "An act to protect certain Domestic and Private Rights." The second is the Sunday Law ; and the third, the late "Act to Rostrain the Bale of Intoxicating Liquors." The provisions of these are as follows:

BUCKALEW'S LAW.

1. A fine of from $10 to $50, and imprisonment from ten to sixty days, for wilfully furnishing intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, by sale, gift or otherwise, to minors or insure persons-to any one when intoxicated, or to one known to be intemperate. The same populty for thus furnishing liquors to any intemperate person, for three months after notice from friends forbidding the same.

2. Any person furnishing liquor to another, by gift, sale and otherwise, in violation of this, or any other act, is held responsible for damages, to persons or property, resulting therefrom. 3. A fine of $50, and imprisonment, at the discretion of the Court, for marrying a person when intoxicated.

4. A fine of $50 for the unwholesome adulteration of intoxicating beverages, or the wilful sale of the same. For the second offence $100 fine, and imprisonment not exceeding sixty days. 5. Expenses not exceeding $20, to be paid to the prosecutor. No action to be maintained for liquor sold contrary to any law; and Courts may revoke license, &c. SUNDAY LAW.

1. A fine of 550 for each case of selling trading or bartering of spirituous or mali liquors, wine or eider, on Sunday. The same penalty for wilfully permitting them to be drank on, or about the premises. 2. In cases of conviction for offences or two separate Sundays, a fine of from $50 to $100, and imprisonment from three to twelve months, with loss of license. 3. On failure to pay fine and costs, imprisonment not exceeding three mouths, or until discharged by due course of law. 4. Constables, Sheriffs, or Prosecuting

Attorneys, are fined from $50 to $100, for refusing to inform on and prosecute oftenders against this act. 5. Suits for penalties must be brought in the name of the City or County. Any citizen of the county may prosecute -be a witness and receive one half of the penalty-the other balf to be paid over to the Guardiaus Court of Quarter Sessions, may revoke a license for violations of this act. No compromise of suits allowed. THE ACT to RESTRAIN THE SALE.&c.

1. All Drinking Houses prohibited, and a fine not exceeding $50, with imprisonment not exceeding one month, for seiling, and affording a place, inducement, or any other convenience, where intoxicating liquor may be sold or drank. For the second offence $100, and not exceeding three months imprisonment. The same penalties when two or more persons combine, the one to sell, and the other to furnish a place for drinking, or aiding or abetting.

2. All sales in less measure than a quart.

are probibited. Courts of Quarter Sessions may-not shall-grant licenses, to citizens of the United States, provided they be of temperate habits, and give bond with two good securities, in the sum of $1060, condititioned for the faithful observance of all laws relating to the sale of said liquors. to be filed in Court; on which bonds, fines and costs may be collected, upon the conviction of the principal. The applicant for license must present his petition, have it lawfully advertised, and the Court shall fix a time when objectious may be heard.

3. No hotel, tavern, eating house, oysterhouse or theatre, nor any other place of refreshment, or amusement, can receive license to sell by any measure whatever, and no unnaturalized person, under any circum-

After this complecent flourish of trumpets , to cover its own retreat, the "Star" dodges every home thrust, and every issue raised between us which it cannot parry or answer : and in reply to our charges of "desertion of the Whig party," and "outlawing of the precludes our saying what we should as upon the enlogy pronounced upon "the tive Catholic population." In the very State Committee of the Whig Party of Penn- / breath with which it has "outlawed the Catholic religion," it by indirection denies that "the new movement arraigns and proscribes the citizen for his religious belief." Truly it blows hot and cold with the same breath! It may be politic to postpone its answers to our positions until after the Election-but whether it is consistent with manly fair deal- arrival. ing with the public, and will must the approbation of truth-loving people, is a different question. It may suit their purposes so to do, but they will please not charge the Sentinel with "backing out."

The "Star" concludes with the assertion that the Catholic Whigs of this County had deserted, and "gone voluntarily and deliberately into the embraces of Locofosoism," and thereupon its Editors found it

"The fullness of time, and flood-tide of occasion," to "abandon their position," and go over to Know Nothingism. So here at length we have a very ungracious, but full and une_ quivocal admission of its "descrition."-But its mistake lay in supposing our "good old ship" had been abandoned by a part of its crew, and therefore its Editors might make good their desertion, and man a privateer against their former comrades in

IS Under just such vollies of attack and abuse as now emanate from the "Star," Catholic Whigs had been made to hesitate as to their true line of duty. But they have long since seen, that this "new movemeut" is not confined to either of the old political parties, but that hungry politicians; from both have been rushing pell-mell into it. And they have also seen that the true conservative spirit of our good old Whig party, is bringing order out of chaos, and is visiting with a calm but stern rebuke, the sceret workings, violence and intolerance of these politicians. Before another year has gone round, these irritating causes will have passed away, under the popular condemnation, and that noble body of Whigs in this County, now "outlawed" by the impotent ban of the "Star," will be found, as of yore, true to the Whig cause, and zealous as evor for its principles and its measures.

We cannot think with the "Ste Convention was "ill-judged and badly advised." neither do "nine-tenths of the old line Whigs of the County" view it in that light. We know their feelings better.
